

Taking ACL to the Next Level with AuditExchange 2

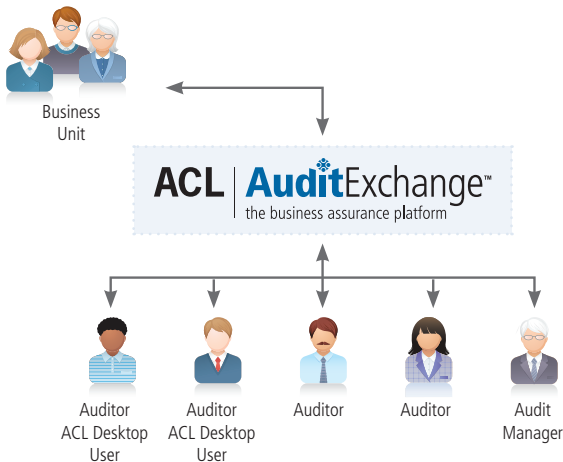

ACL users have realized significant gains in personal productivity using ACL Desktop software – increasing the level of assurance they have provided organizations through faster data analysis. However, departmental roles and responsibilities have grown without corresponding increases in staffing and many of you have told us that you're seeking ways to better support your mandate. Challenged to find ways to increase productivity in the face of ever growing volumes of data, many departments are leveraging the power of AuditExchange 2 to take their ACL use to the next level.

Take the step up to our most capable solution – ACL AuditExchange 2. It is a flexible Business Assurance platform that helps organize and enhance ACL use in a team setting. You can take your productivity and analysis to the next level and building on your previous successes. Automate repetitive testing to drive productivity, stretch resources further to cover emerging risks, and demonstrate bottom line value.

Your mandate has grown and so has what you can do with ACL.

The audit department using ACL Desktop/Network is limited by the processing power of a personal computer. It's a decentralized approach that means the productivity benefits are limited to a portion of the audit team. In addition there is no integrated scheduler or exception management tracking capabilities within the product.
